

(11)Publication number : 06-044110
(43)Date of publication of application : 18.02.1994

G06F 12/00

(72)Inventor : MATSUYAMA MAKOTO

CONSTITUTION: In an installing method by which arbitrary software is installed in the computer form a single installation medium (magnetic cartridge, for example) where software corresponding to plural CPU architectures, position information 34 consisting of the name of the CPU architecture which software to be installed operates and the storage position of software operated by the CPU architecture is previously stored in the installation medium, and software fitted to the CPU architecture of the computer for installing is obtained based on the position information.

[Date of extinction of right]